Website Unveiled: The newly redesigned Miami Vein Center website, unveiled at its Brickell offices now goes live on www.miamiveincenter.com.

June 15, 2010 – Miami, FL: The Miami Vein Center today announces the online presentation of its website, designed by the award winning team at Paramount/MD. The scale of the design, which was unveiled at its Brickell offices on June 15, 2010, can be viewed along with photographs and videos on <http://www.miamiveincenter.com/videos/home.htm>.

The Miami Vein Center site is entirely devoted to the services and knowledge of Vein disease treatment. The center provides a welcoming environment for patients to receive state-of-the-art professional care and information pertaining to their services.

Dr. Jose I. Almeida, Medical Director and CEO of the Miami Vein Center commented: "To enhance our quest of educating and treating patients with venous disease in the modern era, we felt a robust website was critical. We were delighted that the good folks at Paramount/MD could convert our vision into bits and bytes and assign an IP address to it. The product is a clean, informative, modern website- easy to navigate, and pleasing to the senses."

Victor Sirgado, CEO of Paramount/MD commented: "We have developed a new style of design for the medical industry. We're bridging post modern design with award winning photography making the user experience not only informative but visually stimulating."
